

A national sex show is looking at coming to Windsor.
CHUM AM800 WINDSOR

The "Everything to do with sex" show has been in Toronto for the past 9 years, and is now branching out to London and Halifax.

Show Manager Mikey Singer says Windsor is on the radar for the show due to the increased convention space and the proximity to Detroit.

Singer says Windsor has the potential to host a successful show.

'we are looking into it, what we like about Windsor is the proximity to Detroit, you would be pulling in from Detroit and what the casino has proven is that the city is very forward thinking'

Singer says it's an educational sex show.

'we try to present sex and romance in an open and understanding environment..so we try to promote education and a comfort level and providing entertainment on stage.'

Singer says the show gets a lot of attention.

'the minute you say sex everyone gets their back up a little bit or takes a look around, any city that we go to has to do a background check on us and we have been doing the show in Toronto for 9 years and we have plenty of references here'

tag: Singer says no decisions have been made and no dates have been confirmed. The show in London this fall is expected to bring in 10 to 15-thousand people over the 3 day event.
